

GRADUATE SUSTAINING FEE TO RISE IN FALL 2016

The Delaware State University School of Graduate Studies and Research would like to inform all graduate students about recent changes to sustaining credit enrollment status and the Graduate Sustaining Fee.

Students who are in good standing, having successfully completed all course and candidacy requirements, must register for sustaining credit until their degree is awarded.

- Effective immediately, all graduate students in sustaining credit status have been granted full-time enrollment status (six credit hours) to allow compliance with international, work study, grant and financial aid eligibility.
- Effective Fall 2016, the Graduate Sustaining Fee will increase to accommodate the sustaining credit enrollment status change.

The fee for master's degree students will be the equivalent of one in-state credit hour of tuition per semester. For doctoral students, the fee will be the equivalent of one credit hour of enrollment per semester.

Students with questions about sustaining credit, the change in enrollment status or the fee for Fall 2016 may contact the School of Graduate Studies and Research at 302.857.6800.
